

Colorín Colorado

The newest Web site from Reading Rockets is for Spanish-speaking parents. Called Colorín Colorado, it provides information, activities, and advice on helping children learn to read and succeed at school.

The Web site, located at www.ColorinColorado.org, features beautiful illustrations from Caldecott Award-winning illustrator David Diaz and video clips of celebrities such as the late beloved Celia Cruz.

Among the pages are skill-building activities that draw upon Spanish songs and rhymes, recommended books, empowering suggestions for parents who may not speak English, and much more. We hope you will refer parents to the site or print out and hand out the pages.
