Children’s Peace Garden

Field trips to the Children’s Peace Garden are engaging, encourage hands-on exploration, and enhance your science curriculum! During a field trip, students engage in activities focused on local food, organic gardening practices, the importance of biodiversity and community, and reconnecting with the Earth through experiential gardening.

Or bring the garden to your program! The classroom visit themes and activities align with the rhythms of the garden growing season, such as honeybees, insects or seeds.

Also check out the Children’s Peace Garden Days Off of School program for special topics on BVSD days off.

For more information, visit Growing Gardens or email Annie.

Demonstrated Competencies on PDIS

Demonstrated Competencies is now live in the PDIS Early Childhood Professional Credential! Individuals can earn points toward their credential for a qualifying score on an approved observation tool. To earn these points, the following criteria must be met:

- Observation was completed in the last year
- Observation was completed by a qualified observer using an approved scoring protocol
- Required documentation submitted by the observer to the PDIS Help Desk

- Individual who qualifies for these points was the lead or co-lead teacher during the observation

To learn more, see the Demonstrated Competencies on PDIS.

* Growing Kit for a hands-on experience with plants and gardening.
* Root-Vue Farm as a teacher-supervised experience to see how plants grow under the soil—you can even add worms!

Tips to Update Your QRIS

It is recommended that you review and update each section of your QRIS profile at least once a year. Here are some key areas to keep in mind:

- Contact Information — Make sure the director and primary contact information is correct. Report any changes to your licensing specialist, too.

- Program Description — This is your opportunity to show what sets your program apart from the others with a very short description. Also, did you know that you can upload your logo or picture?

- Workforce — Do you have any new staff who need to register on PDIS? Complete their 10 L2 hours? If you have staff listed who have left the program, you can call the PDIS Help Desk to request their removal.

- Complete and ready to submit — After saving each section, be sure to click on the checkbox at the top of each tab. If you are unable to make changes, you many need to uncheck this box.

- Build My QIP — If you are still working on a goal, update any progress and a new deadline. Also, add the date and your name whenever you edit a goal. Be sure to save any changes by clicking on the “Program QIP Complete” button.

- QI Incentives — You can check to see if there are any new funding opportunities available that your program may qualify for.

Healthy Beginnings, Active Futures Grant

The Healthy Beginnings, Active Futures grants are awarded for the creation, expansion, and improvement of outdoor play and learning environments. Qualistar awards grants four times a year, ranging in size from $500 to $50,000. Eligible applicants are licensed nonprofit programs, privately owned for-profit programs, family child care providers, and preschools that are committed to reducing childhood obesity and increasing active play and physical activity.

The grant application is now available! Download the application here. Act fast—the grant application deadline is May 19, 2017.

Family Child Care Quality Certificate

The Family Child Care Quality Certificate program promotes high-quality early childhood education from licensed child care providers who work from their homes. The FCCQC is an alternative pathway to Level Two of Colorado Shines, the state’s quality rating and improvement system.

The FCCQC trainings and resources were developed specifically for this underserved group of providers to improve the care and education they provide to children and families. FCCQC also prepares participants to achieve higher levels within Colorado Shines.

Thanks to generous funding from the Daniels Fund, there is no cost to providers to participate.

FCCRS: 26. Active physical play—5.3 Ample materials/equipment for physical play to keep children active and interested; 7.3 Materials/equipment used daily stimulate a variety of large muscle skills, pg. 54.

These were our staff’s favorite sessions:

Baby Talk: Closing the Word Gap in Early Childhood Classrooms
The LENA Research Foundation presented the powerful phenomenon known as the “talk gap.” Research has shown that children from low-talk families hear as many as 30 million fewer words than high-talk families! This analysis speaks to the importance of talking with, instead of at, children and encouraging “serve and return” conversational skills. This imperative teacher role directly relates to the ITERS items of Listening and Talking.

Math, Motion, and Connecting the Thoughts: Supporting Early Mathematics
Recognize how early mathematical skills are embedded into a child’s world and revolve around sensory motor and social-emotional experiences. Speaker Angela Russ Anyon reinforced that all aspects of a child’s day lead to their development. Teachers don’t have to schedule every learning moment; all interactions are opportunities! “It’s never math time, it’s always math time.”

Individualizing Professional Development and Mentoring
Chris Lawrence presented a lively and informational session that focused on giving coaches, mentors, and administrators a greater understanding of the coaching role, along with practical strategies for improving their work with teachers and caregivers at all levels of implementation. The discussion included ways to enhance the quality of coaching and tailor it to the individual strengths, needs, and opportunities observed in programs through the use of Teaching Strategies Coaching to Fidelity resources.

Managing Complex Change
Change is hard, and the change to the Colorado Shines rating system is no different! To successfully embrace change, we need:
- Vision: Without it, you get CONFUSION
- Skills: Without it, you get ANXIETY
- Incentives: Without it, you get RESISTANCE
- Resources: Without it, you get FRUSTRATION
- Action Plan: Without it, you get FALSE STARTS

Upcoming Changes

First and foremost, we appreciate all that Chrissie Ernst has done for us as the Interim Quality Improvement Manager since last November. July 1 marks the beginning of the administration of new quality improvement grants. After two years of federal funding to help kick off high-quality (L3-5) ratings in Colorado Shines, new statewide funds will now support the pursuit of quality improvement. The good news is that rating assessments will remain free for licensed child care providers. Anticipate applications for new quality improvement assistance to be released in late August 2017.

One thing that is not changing is that the ECCBC Quality Improvement Team will be here to support you. Keep up the good work!

New ELDG Videos & Website Now Available

The Office of Early Childhood has developed tools to help parents and educators access and use the Colorado Early Learning & Development Guidelines, which describe the path of children’s learning and development from birth to age 8. The new website has information for families, providers, and child advocates to better understand the importance of these guidelines. You’ll also find helpful resources on how to effectively use them in lesson plans and daily activities. The new videos, available in both English and Spanish, offer highlights of the incredible learning that takes place at each stage of a child’s development and how we can best support them.

ITERS: 21. Sand and water play—5.1 Sand or water play at least once a week.

ELDG: Physical Development & Health—1. Perceptual Development: The developing ability to become aware of the social and physical environment through the senses.

The ELDGs in a Rating

Chances are, most of the domains of the Early Learning & Development Guidelines are already included in your lesson plans and daily practice, but the ELDGs provide a universal language for parents and providers to discuss child development. It also reminds us of what we can expect from our children during every stage of development to ensure that we are always providing developmentally appropriate care and experiences. It helps teachers plan curriculum so they are sure to support mastery of age-appropriate skills, while also challenging children to grow toward the next level of development.

It is imperative for early childhood educators to deeply understand child development, which is why the ELDGs are a part of the Colorado Shines rating system. Using the ELDGs in your curriculum, child assessment, and parent engagement is an indicator of quality because it demonstrates that a program is committed to providing holistic care that enhances every aspect of a child’s development.

The ELDGs are included in the following documentation indicators:

- 2.8 The program offers annual parent educational information sessions on child development and learning aligned with the ELDGs.
- 4.1 The program has a curriculum that has been aligned with the ELDGs.
- 4.11 The program has a child assessment that has been aligned with the ELDGs.

Many curriculum companies are understanding the importance of the ELDGs and are creating alignment documents that can be submitted for 4.1 and 4.11. Contact your curriculum representative or the Quality Improvement Team for more information!

FCCRS: 23. Sand and water play—5.1 Sand or water play provided at least once a week; 5.2—Variety of toys used for sand/water play.

Congratulations to the Qualistar Grant Winners!

Aspen Grove Community Preschool in Nederland and Children’s House Preschool in Boulder have been awarded the Qualistar Capital Improvement Grant! These grants are a great opportunity to improve early childhood spaces for staff and children. Michael Knuckey, director of Children’s House, said the most important step in the application process is to attend the informational webinar, which helped them fully understand the grant and how to show their need. They were sure to document how their capital improvement would directly impact the health and safety of the children. Visit Qualistar for more information on their available grants.

What Is Vroom?
“New science tells us that our children’s first years are when they develop the foundation for all future learning. Every time we connect with them, it’s not just their eyes that light up—it’s their brains, too. In these moments, half a million neurons fire at once, taking in all the things we say and do. We can’t see it happening, but it’s all there, all at work. That’s why Vroom is here.

Sesame Street in Communities

An excerpt from the NPR article, “For Traumatized Children, An Offer of Help From the Muppets,” by Anya Kamenetz. Read the full article.

Cookie Monster is all wound up. The Count has him hold up his furry blue fingers, count them (of course), and blow on each one in turn as if he were blowing out a birthday candle. Afterward, Cookie declares, in his familiar growly voice, that he feels much better.

"Hey! Me feel terrific! Me calm. Me relaxed."

You won’t be catching this scene on HBO or PBS. It’s part of a special initiative called Sesame Street in Communities. Free materials, including videos, books and games, [were released October 6, 2017] to help parents and caregivers, in turn, help young children cope with traumatic experiences.

The science of adverse childhood experiences, or ACEs for short, is beginning to transform education and social services. ACEs include poverty, abuse and neglect, domestic violence, divorce, and mental illness or substance abuse on the part of a caregiver.

A new analysis of the 2016 National Survey of Children's Health…shows that nearly half of American children experience at least one of these adversities, and 1 in 5 have had at least two. Research shows that growing up with more ACEs negatively affects children’s development, education, and even later in life, chronic disease and longevity. But children’s brains are also resilient, and they can recover with the right kind of responsive care.
